

ARCHIVE

BIG FAMILY PRESS
004 WITH OOMK

MY

An archive is a collection of objects that say something about who a person was. It tells us about how people used to live, what they liked and about the time and place in which they grew up. If you had an archive what would you put in it?

You will need

- Pens or Pencils
- Glue
- Scissors

"We made our own boxes. We cut it with scissors and stuck it together. We put stuff about us in it."

ONE: Draw objects that say something about you in boxes A, B, C and D.

What do these things say about your life?

TWO: Using scissors, carefully cut out the template.

This will be your archive box.

THREE: Decorate your archive box any way you want. You might want to decorate the inside of the box too.

It's a special box with important things inside so think carefully about how it will look.

FOUR: Fold your box along the dotted lines, and use glue to connect the tabs.

Practice assembling the box without glue first.

FIVE: Fold up the 4 objects you drew and put them in your box.

Exchange your box with somebody else. Ask them about the objects they have treasured in their archive.

OOMK

Big Family Press

SLG

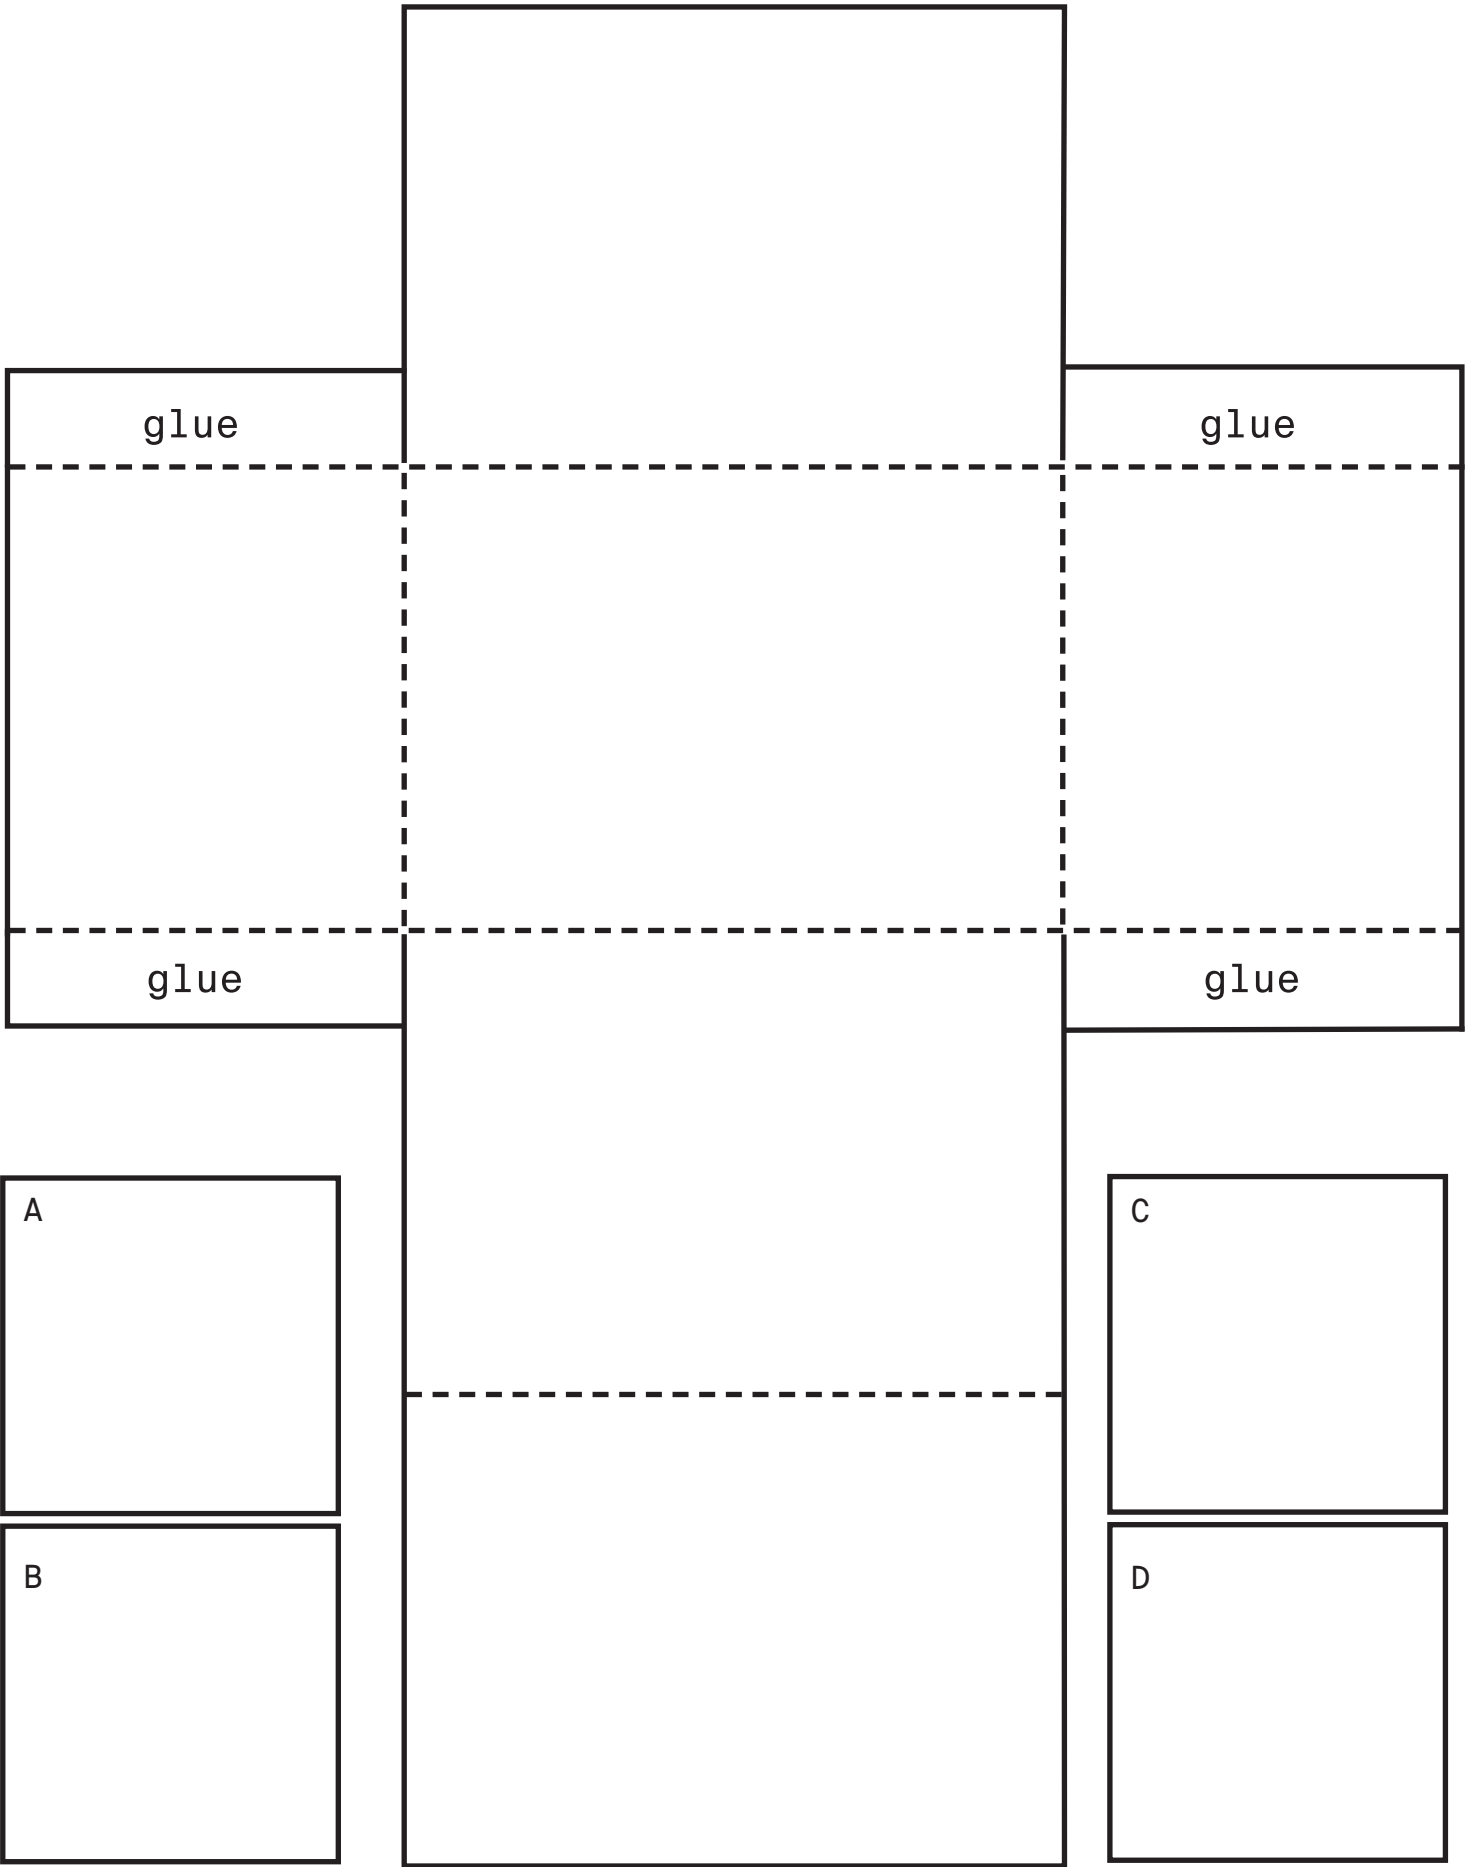

Supported using public funding by
ARTS COUNCIL ENGLAND

Printed on the Big Family Press, March 2018 Commissioned through the South London Gallery's critical heritage programme, Evidence of Us.

The Big Family Press is a printing press co-developed by a group of children aged 4 - 11 in after-school care at Oliver Goldsmith Primary School, Camberwell and the artists' collective One of My Kind (OOMK). The collective, which convenes every Tuesday afternoon during term-time, creatively and critically explores personal and local narratives through a range of DIY publishing techniques.

KEY

